OpSource Delivers IT Infrastructure for Walden Media's Online Presence Service Delivery Platform Ensures Reliability, Security and Lower Costs

Santa Clara, Calif., September 27, 2004 – Walden Media has selected OpSource, Inc., a next-generation IT infrastructure services company, to provide a full suite of managed services to support its online presence at Walden.com. OpSource provides Oracle database management, Linux system administration, network/security management, monitoring and performance tuning services. In addition, OpSource designed and built the infrastructure for Walden.com, enabling Walden Media to achieve one of its primary objectives, which is to deliver resources to parents and educators that will extend the film-going experience.

“In addition to making acclaimed movies, Walden Media is committed to fostering the growth of a community of educators who are developing innovative ways to use film in the classroom, and the Web is obviously central to this effort,” explained Daniel Kim, Director, Web Development, Walden Media. “OpSource provides the technical talent and best-of-breed processes and procedures, as well as the 24x7 responsiveness that is necessary to ensure that our co-located Web sites and Web-based applications are reliable and secure, at a fraction of the cost we would incur to provide such services ourselves. We're confident that OpSource's comprehensive service offerings and depth of experience in administration, monitoring and performance tuning make them the right choice for supporting the infrastructure necessary for delivering our online resources to educators.”

“OpSource has built its reputation upon our world-class service delivery capabilities,” stated Treb Ryan, CEO, OpSource. “Walden Media's Web infrastructure is a critical link between the company and its customers. The decision to choose OpSource underscores the value of our Service Delivery Platform™, which enables us to deliver scalable, high quality, cost effective services to our clients, so that they can ensure higher levels of customer service, improve efficiencies in Web operations and reduce costs.”

About Walden Media

Founded by Cary Granat, former president of Miramax Films' Dimension label, and educator Micheal Flaherty, Walden Media creates films, television shows, books and interactive media that inspire, engage, enlighten and entertain. Walden believes that quality entertainment is inherently educational and can capture the audience's imagination, rekindle curiosity and demonstrate the rewards of learning.
