Datacom Selects OpSource for SaaS Delivery

Optimal On-Demand Brings Secure On-Demand Delivery to Datacom Customers

SANTA CLARA, CA and MINNEAPOLIS, MN —March 28, 2006 — Enterprise business system provider Datacom International, Inc. ("Datacom"), today announced that it has aligned with OpSource Inc. ("OpSource"), the SaaS Experts™, to deliver its web native dataSTOR suite of tightly-integrated back-office ERP, front-office CRM and eCommerce applications to the small- to mid-size manufacturer.

"Our partnership with OpSource now provides our customers the option of having our web-native dataSTOR applications hosted on their premises, or accessing those applications in the more efficient centrally-hosted Software as a Service (SaaS) model," stated Don Roepke, Datacom's chief executive officer.

"In evaluating our SaaS delivery alternatives we concluded that OpSource, with their 100% availability guarantee, set the standard for SaaS best practices in the key areas of security, fault tolerance, disaster recovery, business continuity and infrastructure," said Roepke. "We provide mission-critical applications to our manufacturing customers, meaning that downtime is not acceptable and strong security is absolutely essential", added Roepke.

"We're pleased to welcome Datacom as a customer," noted Treb Ryan, OpSource's Chief Executive Officer. "Datacom, with their depth of integrated applications, is emerging as a leader in providing on-demand solutions to the manufacturing industry. We believe that OpSource's services will enable Datacom to accelerate its time to market, minimize its costs and bring the best possible on-demand solutions to its customers."
