OpSource Wins 2006 SIIA CODiE Award for Best Application Management Solution Category

Optimal On-Demand Recognized by Industry Peers as Leading SaaS Platform

SANTA CLARA, Calif., May 19, 2006 – OpSource™, the SaaS experts, announced today that Optimal On-Demand™ has been named by the Software & Information Industry Association (SIIA) as the winner for the Best Application Management Solution category. This award category recognizes the infrastructure, technology or web hosting platform that best enables Software as a Service (SaaS) or hosted applications. In addition, OpSource was a finalist for the Corporate Achievement Award. Celebrating their 21st anniversary, the CODiE awards are the software industry's highest honor.

"This 21st Annual CODiE Awards continues our tradition of celebrating the best products in the software and information industry." said Ken Wasch, President of SIIA, "Being a winner among so many fine nominees is a solid achievement. I congratulate all of the companies."

The CODiE Award winners were selected by votes from over 800 member companies that makeup the SIIA. OpSource's Optimal On-Demand was selected from over 1,000 nominations and was up against many high-caliber products as the best in the software and information industry, which is a significant achievement.

"It is an honor to be selected by our peers as the 'best of the best' SaaS enabler," explained Treb Ryan, CEO of OpSource. "It is wonderful to receive such validation, and is evidence of the continued growth and proven benefits of the migration to software as a service."
